Editor's Corner

Прывіт усім! / Greetings!

This edition marks a full year of newsletters. This was an interesting exercise, and fun to do at the same time. Where else do you get to “write” almost anything about other players.

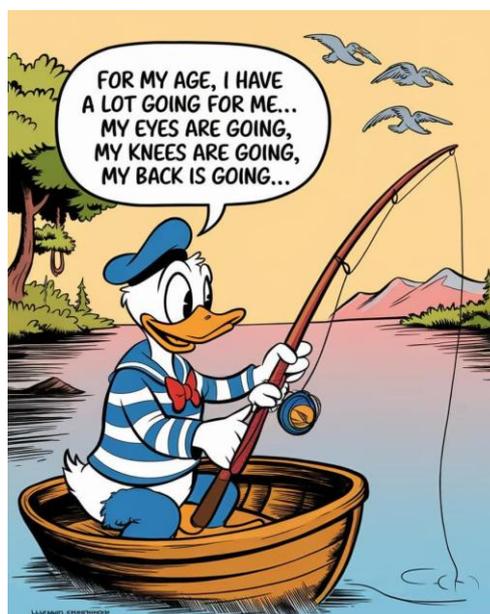

The Winter Cup is fast approaching, so book your accommodation and come along for a fun weekend on July 26th – 27th, 2025. This year it's at Mooroopna GC and Shepparton GC. Several people have booked into the Wyndhamere Motel, Shepparton.

Meeting time:	Sat. 12:30pm	Tee-off 1:00pm
	Sun. 8:30am	Tee-off 9:00am
Cost:	$90	(Guests $100)

I've placed an order for golf shirts, so I'll let you know when they arrive.

If there are any articles / recipes that you'd like to share, then please email the editor...Peter Casey.

I know it's not a golf picture, but thought it appropriate.

Melton GC Review

May 25th 2025: We had 28 players at Melton for round 2 of the Matchplay Championship. Several late withdrawals, and late inclusions. George was constantly changing the draw. Remember to let us know if you are joining the next game...as early as possible, and then pay the green fees. Today we teed off the 10th tee.

The final four contenders of Matchplay were: Tony Khoury Hcp 16 vs. Mykhaylo Dyachkov Hcp 25 (9 shots), and Nick Wasyl Hcp 32 (15 shots) vs. Tony Kastropil Hcp 17. A big ask for both Tony's with the number of shots given. I'll cover the details in the MP section.

A huge milestone game for Marijka Kohut who played her 200th game, and Steve Felniak 150 games.

The weather was chilly at the start, but after many holes we could start to take some layers off.

Our Los Angeles member, Adrian Robertson was back for another game. A tad rusty, but the game at Ivanhoe the previous Sunday cleared some of the cobwebs. His first drive of the day startled several as it rocketed down the left side of the fairway. What a hit. The group in front, were surprised several times as he somehow missed them. The best was on the par 4 5th, a dogleg left where he was only going to take it easy to get it in the middle of the fairway. Boom...it was a monster. The red line was the intended target; it went past the golf cart! Oops. Within 10 metres short of the green!

Marijka was sharing a cart with Nick Wasyl and this gave her a new view of the course travelling to different fairways for Nick to play back onto the current one. Normally, she'd be on the correct fairway herself.

The general consensus was that the pin placements on the greens were not friendly, and the shape of the greens caused many a ball to roll off...some several times. I have it on good authority, that for Melton, you have to land on the green, not chip and run.

I heard that on another area of the course, a ball got stuck up a tree. Then the "tree" iron came out... Looks like a great attempt. A golfer's Christmas Tree, using clubs rather than lights. Alas, another club was required to get the club back.

Michael Charenko was in the last group, and as he stated with three other golfers who were constantly looking for their ball. He won division 1 with 32 points. They were a long way behind the second last group.

Note: Only THREE minutes looking for a ball. Declare it as lost, go to the edge of the fairway and take a two-shot penalty.

Steve Galas, using his local knowledge of his home course, won division 2 with 33 points, and it was heard that Jerry Cymbalak wants to be in Steve's group next time for a rematch, as he was beaten by one shot.

Matchplay 2025

Even though both Tony's gave away 8+ shots, their opponents struggled to apply pressure to force errors.

Tony Khoury was playing better than he did at Werribee, and this put too much pressure on Mykhaylo Dyachkov, going down early on the back 9 (aka front 9) with +5.

It was rumoured the Tony Kastropil wasn't playing as good as he did at Werribee, but Nick Wasyl was too erratic. Tony winning with three holes to go (+3).

The MP final is at Goonawarra between Tony Kastropil and Tony Khoury. This should be a battle in all aspects of the game, as they are close in handicap. Tony Khoury may have to give 2 shots to Tony Kastropil.

To speed up play, once you get to 9 shots, pick up and get an automatic three putts. Note: A putt is ANYTIME you use the putter. It doesn't matter if you were off the green!

Players requiring carts will need to make a booking with the pro shop and advise George if they wish to share.

Players must provide proof of membership of a reciprocal rights golf club, then a credit will be raised for the discount.

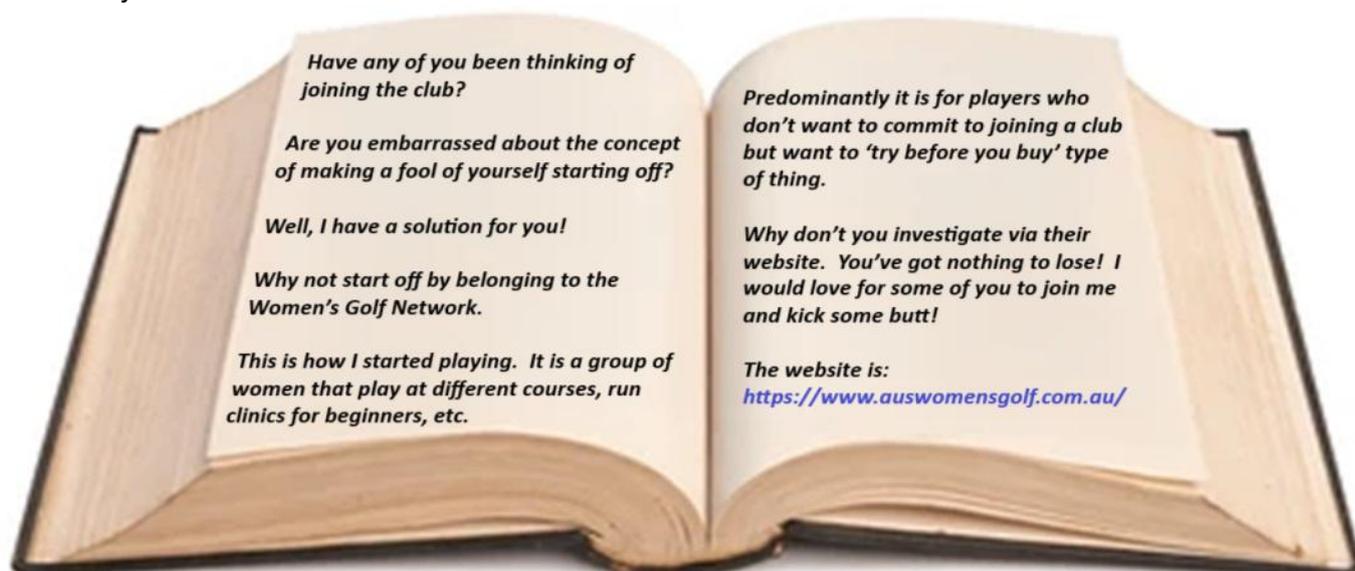

Remember to book via the website as early as possible, whether you are playing OR unable to play. This helps George immensely. Remember to pay early.

Junior membership is free! A club shirt is still $50 😊

Golf Digest

Golf tip: Avoid Chili-Dip by Accelerating on Chip Shots: Golf Tip

The chili-dip is not nearly as delicious as it sounds. In fact, this rotten little shot can leave a bad taste in your mouth.

“Chili-dip” is golfer slang for a fat chip or pitch shot played from near the green. The club hits the turf behind the ball, which goes a few yards (or less) and comes up well short of the target. It’s downright maddening.

Golfers who chili-dip are usually guilty of:

- 1) Trying to lift or scoop the ball into the air by flipping their wrists at it, or
- 2) Failing to accelerate the clubhead through the shot.

If you tend to overuse the hands and hit a lot of fat chips, this video tip has the cure: <https://golf-info-guide.com/video-golf-tips/hit-down-to-stop-scooping-chip-shots-video/>

If you think your problem is a decelerating clubhead, read on.

It seems the closer golfers get to the hole, the less aggressive we become. If anything, most of us swing too hard with a driver, hybrid or iron in hand. But once we're on or near the green, we turn into giant chickens, deathly afraid of hitting the ball past the cup.

That's a losing mentality. First of all, going too far is usually no worse than coming up an equal distance short. In fact, it's better – by going long, at least the ball has a chance to go in. The biggest problem lies in what a tentative mindset does to our swing or stroke.

The club must accelerate into the ball on a chip or pitch shot – same as with a driver or iron. If the clubhead slows down approaching the ball, the best you can hope for is to make decent contact and come up short. More likely, you'll hit behind it.

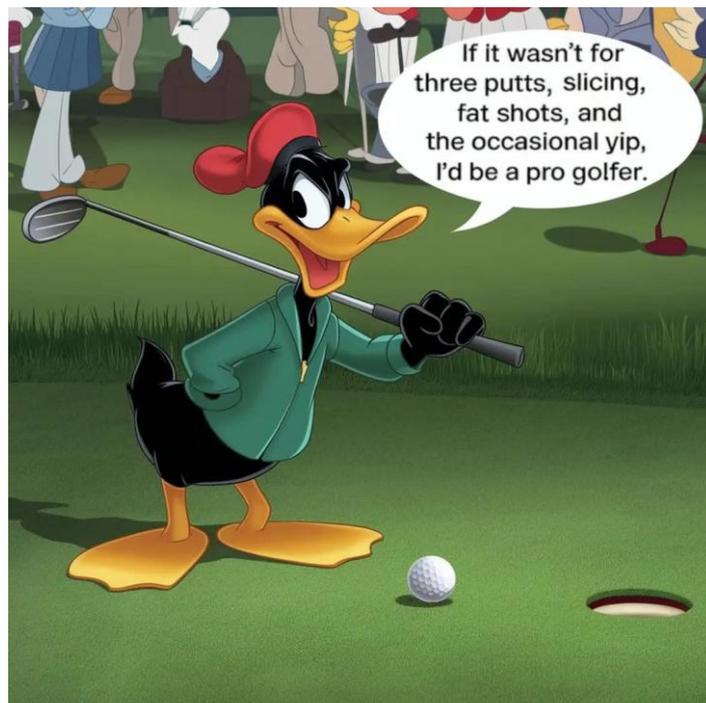

Of course, you can't just flip a switch and change from a timid chipper to an aggressive one, right? Nope. That's why you must build a fundamentally sound method that you trust. The key to chipping is a simple matter of making crisp contact. Do this and you'll control the ball with proper trajectory and backspin.

Then again, even golfers with solid technique sometimes lose their confidence. If you've become apprehensive around the greens, try this easy drill to get your mojo back:

- On the practice green, set up for a straightforward chip of 20-30 feet. Choose the club and setup you'd normally use for this shot.
- Hit three shots exactly as you would on the course, noting the length of your backswing and follow-through.
- Now hit three shots with a backswing half as long as normal, but with a longer follow-through. Don't worry about where the ball goes.
- To make a longer follow-through with a shortened backswing, you'll have to accelerate through the shot. Continue practicing this way, varying your distance after every few tries.

Which would you rather do: Chip the ball six feet past the hole, or chili-dip it short of the green? Chip fearlessly and you'll find the results much more appetizing.
